A 3D rendering of a hexagonal lattice structure. The structure is composed of a grid of hexagonal cells, each with a dark gray gradient fill and white highlights along the edges. The perspective view shows the grid receding into the distance, creating a sense of depth. The overall appearance is clean and modern, with a focus on geometric shapes and light and shadow.

A large, stylized white 'K' shape composed of multiple white 3D blocks on a dark blue background. The 'K' is formed by several vertical and diagonal blocks, creating a sense of depth and perspective. The background is a solid dark blue, making the white blocks stand out.
