

A digital clock with a 7-segment display. The main part shows the time as 22:22:22. A small red digital dot is positioned at the end of the seconds column, indicating the current second. The background features a dark, abstract geometric pattern of hexagons.

The image displays a continuous, three-dimensional pattern of dark gray hexagonal cells arranged in a grid. Each hexagon has a lighter gray center and is defined by thin black lines. The perspective creates a sense of depth, as if the hexagons are stacked in layers. The overall effect is a modern, geometric, and slightly abstract background.

A large digital clock with a dark blue background. The digits are white and have a three-dimensional, blocky appearance. The time shown is 10:10. The digits are composed of several segments, creating a segmented look.

The logo for IAOG European Business School features the acronym "iaog" in a large, white, sans-serif font. The letter "i" has a small square above it. Below the acronym, the text "European Business School" is written in a smaller, white, sans-serif font.
